

Claims

1. What I claim as my invention is the system or estimation method that is described in the patent application which is used to document and solve for the relationships between:

- a. technical project requirements
- b. dependent concepts, and
- c. core-competencies

2. I also claim as my invention the dimensional structure of the data that results from the system or estimation method described in the application and provided in the Drawings.

Copyright © 2004 by [illegible]